

“After two years of conversations with Kolmar Laboratories, in conjunction with state and local economic officials, I’m pleased that Kolmar has come to the right decision for itself and the people of Port Jervis. I congratulate the company and on behalf of the community I renew my pledge to do all I can to continue to improve the business climate of Orange County.”